Attention: Dave Clare

Dear Dave:

I have just completed the "Effective Personal Productivity" course, and wish to thank you for showing me the way to achieve the next level of success.

The goal setting and team productivity lessons learned in this course would be so beneficial to anyone who works in a team environment.

During the seven weeks of the course, our company team has found a way to save $3,500.00 from our operating expenses and we have only scratched the surface.

I have also realised timesaving in my daily responsibilities of approximately three hours per week.

The benefits I have received immediately from participating in this course both professionally and personally will provide me with the opportunity to strive for success in everything I do.

The "Effective Personal Productivity" course is an absolute must for anyone wishing to take his or her professional and personal lives to a higher level of success.

Thank you for all the lessons learned.

Best regards,
GYM-CON LTD.

Tim Klementti
